

New York University Elects Bernstein Captain—Feds Admit New Park Is to Be on Bank of Harlem River

BERNSTEIN CHOSEN CAPTAIN OF N. Y. U.

Fullback Defeats House and McCulloch in Election of 1916 Football Leader.

FOUR REGULARS ARE LOST

At a meeting of the executive committee of the New York University Athletic Association, held yesterday afternoon in the gymnasium, the captain and managers for next year's eleven were elected. H. Bernstein of the law school was chosen by his team mates to head the squad during the 1916 season. The other two candidates were House and McCulloch. Bernstein has played varsity football for two years and has gained the reputation of being one of the best backfield men in this section. F. R. Baldwin of the class of 1917 was elected from assistant to manager, while H. Gunter, '18, was selected as assistant.

The committee awarded the varsity insignia to the following sixteen men as a reward for the work they have done during the season: Capt. Somers, Walldman, Williams, Zimmerman, Sokolower, Kagan, Manley, Erwin, Bernstein, Cann, Boggett, Jordan, La Monica, Schwindel and McCulloch. The following received the right to wear the varsity numerals: Olawski, Frain, W. Draper, Fitzgerald, Strutt, Taylor, Noonan, Salter, H. Draper, H. Williams, Neale, Rogers, Hedley, Loeffelholz, Willson, Brown, Christopher, Potter, Furrier and Thompson.

The prospects for next year are bright. Only four of the varsity men will play next fall, Walldman, Somers, Zimmerman and Duggett. The backfield will remain intact and with the addition of Hammer, who was unable to play this year because of the one year rule, should be in the condition by the opening of the next season. The season just finished is looked on as a success. Of the nine games played four resulted in victories and one was a tie.

GILROOLEY AMONG LEADERS.

Player Who Will Be With Yankees Bats Well in Minor League.

The official averages of the International League show that twenty men batted their way into the .300 division. Gilrooley, who returns to the Yankees next year, is among the number and he also led the league in stolen bases, with 53. The club batting and the .300 hitters were as follows:

CLUB BATTING.

Club.	G.	A.	R.	H.	R.	B.	S.	B.	O.	P.
Buffalo	124	441	66	124	133	156	48	287	274	24
Toronto	124	447	248	131	203	129	27	456	453	24
Montreal	124	444	60	125	183	156	48	287	274	24
Richmond	124	446	62	126	158	158	48	287	274	24
Rochester	124	461	52	126	158	158	48	287	274	24
Baltimore	124	462	58	127	157	157	48	287	274	24
Jersey City	124	468	56	127	157	157	48	287	274	24

INDIVIDUAL BATTING.

Name.	Club.	G.	A.	R.	H.	R.	B.	S.	B.	O.	P.
Bill. Rich.	Buff.	25	83	12	28	3	2	4	4	46	6
Manly, R.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24
Barry, J. C.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24
Rath, T.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24
Gilbert, T.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24
Shotton, P.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24
Gilrooley, B.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24
Simon, P.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24
Whitman, M.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24
Kerr, J.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24
Smith, M.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24
Kerr, J.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24
Whitman, M.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24
Chandler, B.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24
Schultz, H.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24
Tracy, J.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24
Tracy, J.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24
Demmitt, T.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24
Demmitt, T.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24
Zimmerman, H.	Buff.	29	105	15	37	8	13	15	27	27	24

MOON TAKES FIRST MATCH.

Defeats Ferro 200 to 67 in Brooklyn Billiard Tournament.

The second annual Brooklyn billiard tournament, which began last night in the Brooklyn Billiard Academy, George P. Moon, Jr., defeating Carl Ferro in the opening game by a score of 200 to 67. Moon was playing for the 200 which he got, whereas Ferro is handicapped at 100.

The victor went out in forty frames for an average of 5 and made runs of 24, 23 and 22. Ferro's average was 1.27-49 and his best clusters 8, 7 and 6. Moon played only fair billiards to the start, but finished with a dash of good snaring and general position play.

GILMORE ADMITS FEDS' NEW PARK IS ON RIVER

Finally Makes Official Announcement That Property on the Harlem, 142d to 145th Street, Is Chosen for Manhattan Club—To Seat 35,000.

WAR TO DEATH, SAYS HUSTON.

James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal League, has confirmed officially the fact that the club's exclusive site of two weeks ago relative to the plans of an independent baseball invasion of Manhattan Island.

New York's Fed club will locate at Lenox avenue, between 145th and 142d streets, if present plans materialize. A double deck, cantilever steel and concrete grand stand with a seating capacity of 35,000, a creation of the brain of C. W. Comstock, Federal League architect, is to spring up in this locality in time to provide the Gotham Feds with a playing home before the opening of the 1916 season. Architect Comstock declares that by utilizing the spacious foot territory at either wing of the main stand and by putting up a centre field bleacher this new park—if business warrants it—can accommodate 55,000 and give everybody a comfortable seat in the bargain.

Unfortunately Mr. Gilmore did not appear in person to make the announcement, but he authorized the kindly office of his secretary's typewriter instead. When the delayed announcement reached the millions of the press, Fighting Jim, according to office gossip, was in the jaws of hungry Wall Street in the interests of his pet project. Wherefore a great many questions of vital interest to the public had to remain unanswered.

PHOTOGRAPH PRESENTS PLANS.

The two page typewritten statement of James A. Gilmore conveyed no grain of information further than those facts already printed in earlier issues of THE SUN. Along with the statement was a handsome photograph of Mr. Comstock's lithographed ideas and in the statement was the intimation that $1,250,000 is involved in the real estate deal arranged by Jesse T. Meeker of 1170 Broadway.

Col. Jacob Ruppert and Capt. T. L. Huston, acting for themselves, could have purchased the property for less than $500,000 for something like $300,000.

Mr. Gilmore has not divulged the name or names of the backers of the New York Federal League club. He has not even said that the property has been purchased. As near as can be learned the invasion has not passed the option stage yet. A representative of Gilmore, who refused to stand for an official interview, intimated that fourteen parties were interested in the local franchise, that the promoters would not have gone to the trouble of having plans and specifications prepared unless they were serious and that the new home would be ready by the middle of next April.

This representative of Gilmore declared that there would be no uncovered seats. Even the bleachers, if such there be, will have a roof. He would neither deny nor affirm that the scale of prices which prevails in other Federal League cities would apply locally. The fate of the franchise, like the identity of the backers or backers of the New York club, must await the next league meeting.

YANKEES NOT DISTURBED.

Col. Jacob Ruppert, president of the New York American League club, does not propose to be disturbed in the least by the plans of the opposition. He declares by the plans of the opposition. "We shall go right ahead with our own scheme of providing a home for the Yankees," said the Colonel yesterday. "If the Federal League can make a success at Lenox avenue and 142nd street it can do wonders beyond the powers of myself and partner. We could not see our way clear to take that site for $300,000. If they really paid half as much again, as reported, it strikes me that they did not know what wonderful business acumen to begin with. That is all I have to say."

The remarks of the Colonel led a few of his mathematical auditors to try to do some figuring on their own hook. Taking the purchase price of the property at even $300,000, it was found that the yearly running expenses would be approximately $121,000. Piling and filling in the low ground, together with the cost of constructing such a spacious stand as the Federal League advocates, would mean half a million additional at the most conservative estimate.

COLUMBIA TO HONOR ITS FOOTBALL TEAM

Dinner Planned That May Be on Bigger Scale Than That to Great Crew of 1914.

TO DESIGN NEW INSIGNIA

Robert W. Watt, chairman of the Columbia board of student representatives, announced yesterday that the success of the varsity football team has aroused such spirit that a dinner may be tendered to the members of the squad within the next three weeks. Watt said that it ought to be held on the campus instead of at one of the big hotels.

The election of next year's captain has been deferred until the opening of the team's season has been decided. A problem has been caused by football over Indiana. A year ago a new set of insignia for all sports was designed, but it did not provide for football. Until some letter is designed it is the purpose of the committee on insignia to grant a major sport a "billboard" life.

All these sports have different shaped "billboards" and the baseball diamond will be moved to the east end of South Field. This will mean that the north stand will be taken down and the south stand left intact. Next season it is the intention of the committee on athletics to build higher stands so as to increase the seating capacity to at least 8,000. The seating capacity of this season proved inadequate and it is believed that with a stronger schedule next year a big increase of the stands will be a necessity.

SUGGESTS PRINCETON AS AMERICAN HENLEY

Coach Rice Would Like to See College Crews Gather for Races on Lake Carnegie.

Coach James C. Rice of the Columbia crews approves of the scheme advocated by the American Intercollegiate Rowing Association to bring all the colleges together to decide the rowing championship, under a system such as prevails at the English Henley regatta. Rice said yesterday that it ought not to end there, but ought to be made so big that fifty or more colleges would be invited to enter crews. He would hold it at Lake Carnegie and charge admission.

As the Harvard-Yale race and the Princeton-Columbia regatta, the railroads get the receipts and the colleges pay the expenses. The members of the winning crew get the oars they rowed in, and the losing crew get the oars they rowed in. The regatta is a great thing, and it ought to be made so big that fifty or more colleges would be invited to enter crews. He would hold it at Lake Carnegie and charge admission.

RAY WARD MAY HEAD BROWN.

Sprague, Wade and Murphy His Rivals for Football Captaincy.

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 29.—When the class of 1916 leaves Brown University next spring it will take with it only five of the varsity football players who have been a part of the team that triumphed Yale and the Carlisle Indians. Two of the back field men and three from the powerful line make up the list.

The greatest loss will be Capt. Andrews. He has served as a successful leader and a sterling player in all of the games of the present season. The highest single achievement of his football career came in the goal from the field which he kicked in the contest with Yale, when he won the game. Another of the team who will be lost by graduation is Ormsby, who has played a game at left end. He held down the same position on last year's eleven.

In the line, Staff and Maxwell will be missed most. In Staff's three years on the team he has played at left center and guard, and during all this time has put up a corking game. Maxwell has played three years on the varsity and always has proved steady and reliable at guard. The season through injuries he has been kept out of the game for a greater part of the time. Saxton, another senior, has played regularly this season for the first time. At fullback he has put up a strong game especially on the defense.

Two other letter men, McBee and Batty, will be missed. McBee played a fine game at end last season, but this fall on account of an operation, he has been kept out of the game. Batty, one of the 1914 tackles, who was expected to do great work this fall, was compelled to quit work, owing to an attack of appendicitis.

With non-removal of the calibre of Ray Ward, Sprague, Farnum, Wade, Weeks, Abbott, Butler, G. Lewis and S. Ward in the line and players like Pollard, Purdy, Murphy, Jomali, Twombly, Hildebrand, Prosser and Frazer in the back field it seems that Coach Robinson will have the material for another great Brown eleven.

The election of a captain for the season of 1916 will take place shortly. Among the members of the class of 1917 who have played most consistently this fall and from whom the choice will be made are Ray Ward, Ken Sprague, Wally Wade and Jimmy Murphy. Ward has played on the varsity somewhat longer than the other men and seems to be the logical candidate.

TO EXPLAIN BASKETBALL RULES.

Those who have been playing basketball under A. A. U. rules will have the new laws of the game explained to them tomorrow night in the gymnasium of the Ninety-second street Y. M. H. A. Street will be laid on the sections borrowed from the intercollegiate code. All interested basketball players and coaches are invited to the meeting by the officials of the Ninety-second street Y. M. H. A. George T. Hopson, editor of the Basketball Guide, will preside.

Football Season Not Closed at Columbia

COLUMBIA'S varsity football team may have disbanded after defeating Wesleyan last Thursday, but the gridiron spirit is still intact. Yesterday afternoon two squads, one from journalism and one from engineering, got out on South Field and practiced in the mire for a game which they have scheduled for Thursday. The men were no mole skins; had no coaches. The engineers, led by O. B. Myers, the varsity crew man, were clad in overalls, while the journalists went through their drill in civilian garb. It was said that the authorities may prevent the playing of the game because the candidates are not in playing condition and may injure themselves and the sport. Both clans, however, are determined to play.

IN THE REALM OF SPORTS.

By WILLIAM B. HANNA.

Billiard skill is supreme. A higher degree of proficiency is reached in this form of sport competition than in any other. It is partly responsible, but eye, judgment and nerve, which are required in this game as well as in others, are needed in addition to natural dexterity to handle the delicate implements of billiards. The difficulty of the game is proved by the fact that few have mastered it, and many who have played it in no other sport has any body reached a point of proficiency corresponding to that reached by Hopper, Ives, Wheeler, and others. The form of sport competition has been mastered to the same extent by its most expert exponents.

Christy Mathewson is back from his tramping trip, which is but further evidence, as shown by his scores on the trip, that all his distinguished life he has done what he set out to do and that if he does a thing he likes to do it well. He began the trip in Ohio, and he is now in New York City. He is breaking 60 targets out of a possible 100 and is making 59 before he has got through.

S. Johnson Poe, the first of Princeton's football foes, has contributed a chapter to the discussion over the length of the game. He has written a letter to a friend in New York as follows:

"Your letter of November 18 received and I have waited for my recollection of the game in 1912 which I had in my scrap book. I remember that the game was a free catch and that the kick was made 65 yards and the goal posts. The ball dropped about twenty yards behind the posts.

"Later in the game Haxall attempted another goal from 70 yards and the ball went straight, but fell into the arms of the Yale fullback standing on the goal line directly under the bar."

Frank Dwyer, newly appointed boxing commissioner, was a credit to professional boxing as long as he was in it. He was a good one, and better still, he was a fair, clean player, the type which leaves the game better for having been in it.

One of golf's premier instances is the fellow who hangs out "Are you sure that your ball?" just when you are starting your swing. We were going to say that he is as bad as the person who gives a revolver to a man who is a hard core golfer, but golf has no post as pestiferous as that.

Under the headline "Lamline Goes to Bed" we read that the player's services have been awarded to the St. Louis Nationals. Horzog will be delighted with the conditions under which he has obtained the mail.

In 1913 the Army beat the Navy 22 to 9, and in 1914 20 to 6. This year the Navy antitide to Harvard coaching the Navy and Harvard coaching and cut the Army's total to 14. Take Harvard coaching by and large, and aside from imparting the greater attack and a stronger defence than the average it doesn't amount to much.

No move has been started in professional baseball to get rid of the sport of amateurism, but then professional baseball is in its infancy.

Our selections for the all star football eleven of 1915 are as follows: Columbia.

Football players seem to consist of those who get hurt on the head and don't know what's going on and those who don't get hurt on the head and don't know what's going on.

St. Louisans had their wish. Max the better team win, they said when Georgetown came to their city to play a game of football. The score was Georgetown, 99; St. Louis, 6. Which convinced St. Louisans that the better team won.

There is still something for our universities and colleges to do from now until next summer they'll be busy developing material for all hockey, all gymnastic, all basketball, all track, all swimming, all wrestling, all rowing, all debating and all chess teams. Then they'll have a few degrees, and another year's work will have been done.

BUERMAYER BACK AT OLD JOB.

Columbia's Left End Returns to Goal on Soccer Team.

Harry Buermeyer, left end of the varsity football team at Columbia, returned to his old job as goal tender on the soccer team yesterday. Buermeyer resigned as captain of the soccer team when the first call for gridiron candidates was made. His return to the soccer eleven was welcomed by Capt. Shannon. He probably will supplant Leeds as goal keeper in the game against Harvard tomorrow and the final contest against Yale on Saturday.

The splendid showing of the Blue and White without a coach or much practice has revived interest in the team and the undergraduates are anxious to see them come through with two victories and make it impossible for any other member of the Intercollegiate Soccer League to win the championship without playing Columbia in a post season game. The team appears to be the strongest that has represented Columbia since the 1911 aggregation won the championship.

EVERY CLUB IN U. S. G. A. TO HAVE VOTE IN FUTURE

Proposed Changes in Constitution Will Give Each Active Club Two Votes and Each Allied Club One—Only Active Clubs Have Voice Now.

Every club that is a member of the United States Golf Association will have a vote in the government of the association in the future if four proposed amendments are adopted at the annual meeting in Chicago on January 14. Hitherto only the clubs which were active members have been allowed to vote and the allied clubs which made up about three-quarters of the association membership have been without a voice in its affairs. The proposed amendments will give the active members two votes each and the allied members one vote apiece.

The executive committee of the U. S. G. A. through Howard F. Whitney, the secretary, has sent out the required notice of the proposed amendments and has written the following statement as a preface:

"For several years there has been more or less objection from men prominent in the game of golf in this country to the form of organization that prevails in the United States Golf Association. This objection is based upon the fact that the allied clubs, which form the large majority in its membership, have no voice whatever in its management and cannot vote at its meetings.

"The existing plan of government was devised at a time when golf was practically unknown in the United States and it was then considered necessary that its control should be confined to a few of the more important and influential clubs. Over twenty years have passed since that time and a thorough knowledge of the game, together with an understanding of its spirit and precedents, has kept pace with its phenomenal growth and widespread popularity, so that the same necessity for the old form of government no longer exists.

"In recognition of the right of every club that is a member of the association to have a vote at its meetings and in order to make the United States Golf Association a desired result of the organization and to widen its influence and usefulness the enclosed amendments to the constitution are presented for consideration at the annual meeting, to be held in Chicago Friday evening, January 14, 1916."

The amendments themselves make several changes which are necessary to accomplish the desired result. The first of them changes the definition of an active member so that heretofore active membership will be open only to clubs maintaining eighteen hole courses instead of letting in those having nine hole courses, as under the present constitution. A clause is added to prevent the amendment from having a retroactive effect and all clubs which are active members now will be allowed to continue as such regardless of their ability to fulfill the new requirements.

The second amendment is the one which permits each active club to have two votes and each allied club one vote. Under the present constitution a quorum at the annual meeting consists of a majority of the active clubs represented either in person or by proxies and the third proposed amendment will make a quorum consist of forty-five clubs represented by delegates in person or by proxy.

The last of the four amendments proposes to reduce the annual dues for active members from $30 to $25.

If these amendments are adopted, as they seem practically certain to be, the United States Golf Association no longer will be governed entirely by active members of golf clubs. The small group of active members will have their number of votes doubled, but in addition all of the great number of allied clubs will have a voice in the association's affairs.

The following letter has been received from Tom McNamara, the Boston homebred, who holds the Western open championship and who finished only a stroke behind Jerome D. Travers in the national open championship at Baltusrol last June:

TO THE SPORTING EDITOR OF THE SUN: I note in THE SUN of today an article written by John G. Anderson where he quotes me as saying that I am a golf course. This is a mistake. It should be the Belleair golf course at Belleair Heights, Fla. The Belleair is at Augusta, Ga. I don't want to be quoted as saying that Belleair is one of the best courses in the country, as I will concede that such a statement is good golf. I wish you would have this corrected. Belleair is the course I referred to when I talked to Anderson. Yours truly, Tom McNamara. BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 29.

TIN WHISTLES PLAY HANDICAP.

Shannon and Becker Tie in Pinchurst Competition.

PINCHURST, N. C., Nov. 29.—The Tin Whistles played in a handicap in two classes today. The prizes were presented by H. W. Priest and E. C. Albright. C. Shannon and J. L. Becker tied in Class A with 71 each. J. R. Goodall with a 76 won Class B. One stroke behind came Dr. M. W. Marr. The scores: Class A—C. Shannon, 71; J. L. Becker, 71; E. C. Albright, 72; H. W. Priest, 73; J. R. Goodall, 74; J. W. Brewer, 75; J. D. Dwyer, 76; J. C. Chatham, 77; J. C. Chatham, 78; J. C. Chatham, 79; J. C. Chatham, 80; J. C. Chatham, 81; J. C. Chatham, 82; J. C. Chatham, 83; J. C. Chatham, 84; J. C. Chatham, 85; J. C. Chatham, 86; J. C. Chatham, 87; J. C. Chatham, 88; J. C. Chatham, 89; J. C. Chatham, 90; J. C. Chatham, 91; J. C. Chatham, 92; J. C. Chatham, 93; J. C. Chatham, 94; J. C. Chatham, 95; J. C. Chatham, 96; J. C. Chatham, 97; J. C. Chatham, 98; J. C. Chatham, 99; J. C. Chatham, 100.

Class B—J. R. Goodall, 76; J. D. Dwyer, 77; J. C. Chatham, 78; J. C. Chatham, 79; J. C. Chatham, 80; J. C. Chatham, 81; J. C. Chatham, 82; J. C. Chatham, 83; J. C. Chatham, 84; J. C. Chatham, 85; J. C. Chatham, 86; J. C. Chatham, 87; J. C. Chatham, 88; J. C. Chatham, 89; J. C. Chatham, 90; J. C. Chatham, 91; J. C. Chatham, 92; J. C. Chatham, 93; J. C. Chatham, 94; J. C. Chatham, 95; J. C. Chatham, 96; J. C. Chatham, 97; J. C. Chatham, 98; J. C. Chatham, 99; J. C. Chatham, 100.

Class C—J. C. Chatham, 81; J. C. Chatham, 82; J. C. Chatham, 83; J. C. Chatham, 84; J. C. Chatham, 85; J. C. Chatham, 86; J. C. Chatham, 87; J. C. Chatham, 88; J. C. Chatham, 89; J. C. Chatham, 90; J. C. Chatham, 91; J. C. Chatham, 92; J. C. Chatham, 93; J. C. Chatham, 94; J. C. Chatham, 95; J. C. Chatham, 96; J. C. Chatham, 97; J. C. Chatham, 98; J. C. Chatham, 99; J. C. Chatham, 100.

Class D—J. C. Chatham, 91; J. C. Chatham, 92; J. C. Chatham, 93; J. C. Chatham, 94; J. C. Chatham, 95; J. C. Chatham, 96; J. C. Chatham, 97; J. C. Chatham, 98; J. C. Chatham, 99; J. C. Chatham, 100.

Class E—J. C. Chatham, 101; J. C. Chatham, 102; J. C. Chatham, 103; J. C. Chatham, 104; J. C. Chatham, 105; J. C. Chatham, 106; J. C. Chatham, 107; J. C. Chatham, 108; J. C. Chatham, 109; J. C. Chatham, 110.

Class F—J. C. Chatham, 111; J. C. Chatham, 112; J. C. Chatham, 113; J. C. Chatham, 114; J. C. Chatham, 115; J. C. Chatham, 116; J. C. Chatham, 117; J. C. Chatham, 118; J. C. Chatham, 119; J. C. Chatham, 120.

Class G—J. C. Chatham, 121; J. C. Chatham, 122; J. C. Chatham, 123; J. C. Chatham, 124; J. C. Chatham, 125; J. C. Chatham, 126; J. C. Chatham, 127; J. C. Chatham, 128; J. C. Chatham, 129; J. C. Chatham, 130.

Class H—J. C. Chatham, 131; J. C. Chatham, 132; J. C. Chatham, 133; J. C. Chatham, 134; J. C. Chatham, 135; J. C. Chatham, 136; J. C. Chatham, 137; J. C. Chatham, 138; J. C. Chatham, 139; J. C. Chatham, 140.

Class I—J. C. Chatham, 141; J. C. Chatham, 142; J. C. Chatham, 143; J. C. Chatham, 144; J. C. Chatham, 145; J. C. Chatham, 146; J. C. Chatham, 147; J. C. Chatham, 148; J. C. Chatham, 149; J. C. Chatham, 150.

Class J—J. C. Chatham, 151; J. C. Chatham, 152; J. C. Chatham, 153; J. C. Chatham, 154; J. C. Chatham, 155; J. C. Chatham, 156; J. C. Chatham, 157; J. C. Chatham, 158; J. C. Chatham, 159; J. C. Chatham, 160.

NAVY IS NOT LIKELY TO CHANGE ITS PLANS

Midshipmen Like New York, But Next Game Probably Will Be in Philadelphia.

McNAMARA LIKES BELLEAIR.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 29.—The agreement existing between the naval representatives of the Navy and the varsity academics of the next service football game will be played in Philadelphia unless a change is proposed by the Navy. In spite of the fact that the arrangements for the game at the Polo grounds this year were carried out in such a way as to give the greatest satisfaction to those connected with the naval service, no change in the original plan seems probable. Under the agreement which is in effect the games next year and in 1918 will be played in Philadelphia and that of 1917 in New York.

Capt. Elmer, superintendent of the Naval Academy, expressed the view of the naval representatives of the game, saying that the arrangement in New York was excellent. The midshipmen, naturally, were delighted with their opportunity to play in Philadelphia, but they gladly repeat it next year. The plan of having the midshipmen stay in New York over the night of the game seems to have been generally approved by the naval representatives of the game, but the midshipmen, naturally, were delighted with their opportunity to play